This removes both dead skin cells and the fine vellus hairs that are known as peach fuzz, leaving the surface of the face ultra smooth. By stimulating the development of new skin cells, this type of exfoliation helps new skin rise to the surface.

6% TCA Chemical Peel

TCA is derived from acetic acid, a derivative of vinegar. It is applied to remove the top layer of skin from the face, neck, hands or other parts of the body. A TCA peel chemically exfoliates the skin and reduces the appearance of fine lines & wrinkles, hyperpigmentation, melasma, acne scars and sun damage; it improves skin texture. TCA peels can be performed at a variety of strengths from light to medium and can be customized by the number of layers applied. TCA breaks up keratin, a protein found in the skin. This causes the keratin to stop functioning properly, lighten in color and peel away from the skin over the course of several days. As the layers of damaged skin are removed, healthier, smoother skin is revealed beneath. While a light peel only affects the topmost layer of skin, the epidermis, a medium peel can penetrate the papillary dermis below to treat deeper damage.

Since glycolic acid is made up of small molecules, it readily penetrates skin, removing the lipids that hold dead skin cells together. The percentage of glycolic acid contained in the peel determines how deeply it can penetrate the skins layers. Glycolic acid also loosens and lifts excess oil from hair follicle roots, which is why it often used to treat acne. Its also thought to suppress the production of melanin, which may be why its beneficial for reducing dark spots. The 50% Glycolic Peel is effective for: Fine lines & wrinkles, acne & acne scarring, Post inflammatory, hyperpigmentation, melasma, ingrown hairs, stretch marks, photo aging (Skin sagging, wrinkling and dark spots)

Skin Renewal Peel - Elaine Brennan

The Skin Renewal Treatment is a unique treatment. The Skin Renewal Treatment is a unique treatment. It helps the rapid removal of top dead cell layers (part of the Corneum Layer). Unlike many peeling treatments, this treatment does not remove even one layer of the epidermis, but only part of it. The problems and dangers of other peeling treatments are due to the fact that they remove the entire dead cell layer and many times go beyond into the living cell layers which can be affected or destroyed. The Skin Renewal Treatment is a method through which only part of the dead surface cells are removed in a thin, crusty layer, without any of the problems that other peelings can bring. The Skin Renewal Treatment peeling treatment will help the skin become softer, moister and will permit the easy removal of blackheads and grease from clogged pores and will enable the skin to function better.

Microneedling - Face (Includes Chemical Peel)

Microneedling (Collagen Induction Therapy) is a skin needling procedure that promotes and accelerates natural skin regeneration and rejuvenation. The concept of needling is based on the skins natural ability to repair itself whenever it encounters physical damage such as cuts, burns and other abrasions. Fibroblast growth factors are activated, which stimulates the production of collagen and elastin. Microneedling improves the appearance of ageing signs of the skin such as fine lines, wrinkles, sagging skin, crow's feet, dark spots, age spots, hyperpigmentation and scarring caused by acne, surgery or chicken pox. Triggering this process on a regular basis encourages your body to keep repairing, reprogram the skin and you will start noticing significant improvement, the skin has the potential to increase its production of collagen and elastin up to 400% after just 4 sessions.

Radio Frequency Microneedling

Fractionated RF (radiofrequency) Needling is the combination of two methods previously used individually for different skin conditions. In particular, Fractionated RF Needling is effective for the improvement in acne scars, skin rejuvenation as well as fine lines and wrinkles on the face. This treatment is also ideal for bodily skin sagging. Fractionated RF Needling is a safe treatment for all skin types, and the treatment has minimal downtime and fewer complications. Microneedling uses a fine needle to create micro wounds, or channels, in the skin. This triggers the production of capillaries, elastin, and collagen. It's also called skin needling or collagen induction therapy. The needle releases radiofrequency into the channels, causing additional damage. This enhances the effects of standard microneedling. The skin that grows back is thicker and smoother. This can target: fine lines & wrinkles, stretch marks, appearance of large pores, acne scars, scars from injury or surgery, hyperpigmentation, loose, sagging skin, cellulite, hyperhidrosis.

LASER SKIN RESURFACING

Carbon Laser Peel

Acne, pigmentation, acne scarring, enlarged and clogged pores, melasma, photoaging, fine lines and wrinkles. A layer of liquid carbon is spread onto your face and left to dry for about 10 minutes. The carbon absorbs oil, dirt, and dead skin cells from deep within the pores. After shielding your eyes, the laser is passed over the skin on a low-energy setting. This heats up the carbon, binding it to the epidermis. The laser also heats up subdermal tissue, boosting collagen and plumping up fine lines.

Laser Skin Resurfacing

The PICO laser uses high-energy picosecond pulses of light that penetrate the deep layers of skin. This breaks the pigment into tiny particles without damaging the surrounding tissue. Your body's natural healing process then removes the particle and generates new collagen to heal the skin and reveal brighter, refreshed skin. Skin imperfections, acne scarring, discoloration, premature aging, unwanted tattoos, and other conditions can shake our self-confidence. After all, we all long for clear, bright, youthful skin whatever our age. If you relate to these sentiments, Picosecond laser technology may be the miracle solution you have been looking for.

60 Min R900

TATTOO REMOVAL

Tattoo Removal

PicoSure advanced technology operates within a trillionth of a second and creating a photothermal impact that ensures fewer treatments and minimal downtime. During each session, more tattoo pigment particles are effectively fragmented and the body removes the smallest fragments over the course of several weeks or months after the treatment. This results in your tattoo lightening and fading over time. Remaining large / visible particles of tattoo pigment are then targeted at the following treatment sessions, causing further lightening / fading. The number of sessions and spacing between treatments depends on various factors, including the area of the body treated, ink color & depth, ink layers and effectiveness / state of the lymphatic & immune system.
